

„With the IntegraMouse AIR, I got my freedom back – and my music.“

A diving accident in 2009 left Mario tetraplegic – but he never gave up his passion for DJing. With the IntegraMouse he discovered the key: hands-free control without compromise.

Back at the computer, back to music, back on stage.

Today, Mario goes even further: As part of IntegraTools, he contributes his expertise in consulting, R&D and support. He tests the new IntegraMouse AIR and proves what's possible: One Device. Many Worlds. New Freedom.

Digital participation in everyday life

Millions of people worldwide live with severe mobility impairments – caused by spinal cord injuries, ALS, muscular dystrophy, or amputations.

For them, digital participation is a daily challenge: using computers, smartphones, or smart homes is often out of reach.

Without the right assistive technology, access to communication, education, work and even leisure activities like gaming or music remains limited – resulting in lost independence and reduced social inclusion.

The Solution: IntegraMouse AIR

The IntegraMouse AIR is a mouth-controlled computer mouse designed for people with limited mobility.

It is operated through minimal lip movements as well as gentle sip-and-puff inputs – precise, fast and intuitive.
